Joseph Minton, Inc.

Talent, experience and innovation are an award-winning combination.

JOSEPH MINTON IS AN AWARD-WINNING designer and a veritable institution in the North Texas design community. His design studio, Joseph Minton, Inc., has been in the same location in Fort Worth's Arts District for the past 30 years.

Minton received the prestigious American Society of Interior Designers' Designer of Distinction Award in 1996, based on his career-long professional achievements which have advanced the profession of interior design. "We were impressed with the longevity and quality of Joseph Minton's work. He has produced a continuous flow of beautiful design for more than 25 years," ASID jurors said.

Joe Minton and his six staff designers are not content to rest on their considerable laurels. They continue to be in high demand nationwide, bringing the Minton signature of beauty and utility to each new product.

The designers like to use antiques in their interiors, but in a fresh, contemporary manner. "We try to do work that's livable and comfortable as well as beautiful—and as timeless as possible," Joe explains. "We don't follow trends."

Having collected a warehouse full of antiques over the years, Joe decided in 1998 to open Joseph Minton Antiques. Located in Dallas' Design District, the shop has since become a celebrated source for one-of-a-kind antiques and accessories.

In addition, Minton offers a line of furnishings to-the-trade. The Minton-Corley Collection consists of uniquely designed iron tables, chairs, mirrors and lamps in a variety of styles. The furniture collection is represented by David Sutherland in Dallas, and in showrooms throughout the country.

Interior design is still at the heart of Joseph Minton, Inc. Joe and his design associates are in demand year-round, bringing their talent and innovation to everything from residences to large commercial projects, law and corporate offices, and country clubs.

Featured in Architectural Digest more than a dozen times, winning the coveted ASID Designer of Distinction Award, and celebrating more than 30 years as an interior designer—Joseph Minton is indeed an icon in the North Texas design community for the high standards he has set and the respect his talent commands.
