Joseph Minton, Inc.

Talent, experience and innovation are an award-winning combination

Joseph Minton is an award-winning designer and a veritable institution in the North Texas design community. Minton received the prestigious ASID National Designer of Distinction Award in 1996, based on his career-long achievements that have advanced the profession of interior design.

He enjoys using antiques in his interiors, but in a fresh, contemporary manner. "We do work that's livable and comfortable, as well as beautiful — and as timeless as possible," Joe explains. "We don't follow trends."

Having collected a warehouse full of antiques over the years, Minton decided in 1998 to open Joseph Minton Antiques. Located at 1410 Slocum Street in the Dallas Design District, the shop has since become a celebrated source for unique furniture and accessories.

In addition, Minton offers a line of furnishings to-the-trade. The Minton-Corley Collection consists of Italian-made iron furniture, as well as beautifully carved mirrors. The collection is represented by Tajzoy, also on Slocum Street at 1525, and by showrooms throughout the United States.

Featured in Architectural Digest more than a dozen times, winner of many prestigious awards, and celebrating 35 years as an interior designer, Joseph Minton is indeed an icon in the North Texas design community for the high standards he has set for design excellence.
